Axes' Advance Now Approaching Bapaume-Transloy Road, According to British Statement.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

London, Oct. 4.—The war office announced today the town of Eaucourt l'Abbaye on the Somme front, for possession of which heavy fighting has been in progress for several days, is now entirely in the hands of the British.

An official statement issued here today gives details of the fighting on the Somme front, after the advance of September 15, describing the capture of villages, including Combles, Eaucourt and Thiepval, and proceeds:

Near Germans' Fourth Position.

These victories brought our front line at more than one point, within a mile of the German fourth position west of the Bapaume-Transloy road.

The enemy has fought stubbornly to check our advance, and since September 15, seven new divisions have been brought up against us, and five have crossed the French.

At the end of September, the situation may be summarized as follows: Since the opening of the battle in July, we have taken 26,738 prisoners and engaged thirty-eight German divisions, of which twenty-four (about one-half) have been withdrawn, exhausted or broken. We hold the half moon upland south of the Ancre, occupying every height of importance and so have direct observation ground to the east and northeast. The enemy has fallen back upon a fourth line behind a low ridge just west of the Bapaume-Transloy road.

Affects Teuton Morale.

The importance of the three major battles is not to be judged by the distance advanced or the number of enemy trench lines taken. It was looked for in the effect upon the enemy's strength in numbers, material and morale. The enemy has used up his reserves in repeated costly and unsuccessful counter attacks, without causing our allies or ourselves to relax our steady methodical pressure.

COMPULSORY HEALTH INSURANCE IS URGED AT DOCTORS' MEETING

President Germain Advocates Proposition at Opening Session of Wisconsin Convention—Badger Hospitals Bad Show.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Madison, Oct. 4.—An examination conducted by the American Medical Association of hospitals in the country, resulted in nine being placed on the approved list, out of fifty Wisconsin hospitals.

This was the statement of President L. F. Germain of Milwaukee, speaking before the seventeenth annual convention of the Wisconsin State Medical Society, in session here today. President Germain advocated compulsory health insurance with a view of distributing the burden of individual losses.

"All insurance has for its object the distribution of individual losses among large numbers of persons," said President Germain, "thereby alleviating the effect of such losses, and preventing distribution among stricken members of society."

"Within five years, thirty-three states have enacted workmen's compensation act, and the American association of labor legislation, which has been active in securing these measures has prepared tentative draft of a health insurance act.

"The initiation of medical benefit under compulsory health insurance in the business cities, has involved a large amount of sickness previously unrecorded for. In the administration of any scheme of health insurance, the medical profession is an indispensable factor. It should, therefore, have a voice not only in the consideration of this measure, but should have representation in the controls."

"If compulsory health insurance is to come into existence, as it seems destined to do, our first path will be to provide for ample service to avoid its being controlled by the hand of committee heads."

MILK SITUATION IN NEW YORK IMPROVES

New York, Oct. 4.—Prospects of settling the strike now over between the milk producers and big dairymakers here showed some improvement today. John J. Dillon, the state commissioner of foods and markets, offered to waive a recognition of the dairymen's league and permit the distributors to make an individual contract with the farmers. Mr. Dillon insisted, however, that the distributors pay the price demanded by the farmers, 47 cents a quart for milk containing 3.5 per cent of butter fat.

SUFFRAGE DENOUNCED BY COLORADO WOMAN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Oshkosh, Oct. 4.—Women suffragists in Colorado has been a rank failure, and has produced a multitude of evils, according to the views of Mrs. Vanie Von Santson, a prominent business woman of Denver, who is visiting relatives here. She says equal suffrage has been enforced there for twenty years and has existed twenty years too long. In short, the history of the franchise in the state shows women are more susceptible to bribery than men, are selling their votes for money, are using every means to obtain office, have secured more state offices than the men, and are using their votes as a club to beat the men into submission.

She also states that prohibition in Colorado is a failure, due to the influence of the lower element among the women voters, and that capital punishment is not enforced.

"It is the limit," is the way she put the situation.

TWO DAYS' SESSION WILL ALLOW TIME TO PASS VOTE LAW

Governor Sees No Need for a Prolonged Session.—Call Indicates Troops Will Remain on Border.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Oct. 4.—Governor Philipp does not expect the session of the legislature, which has been called for next Tuesday afternoon, will be in session for more than two days. The bill to permit the soldiers on the border to vote by mail is now being prepared and it is not anticipated that there will be any opposition to the measure.

The legislature will be called at two o'clock this afternoon and it is expected that it will be adjourned and the members back to their homes by the following evening.

The call of the governor discloses one prominent fact. Before it was issued a telegram was sent to the war department asking if there was any possibility that the soldiers now in France would be home from before election day. It was the intention of the governor not to call the session if it was altogether probable that the boys would be back. The fact that the call was issued yesterday indicates that the boys will remain in the border until after that date. In fact, there are some indications that the boys may be kept on the border all winter.

The legislative reference library is working at full speed today preparing the necessary resolutions for putting the legislature into immediate session. This is being done so that as soon as the legislature is convened the session may be completed without adjourning while resolutions for all of the different moves are prepared.

Members of the legislature receive no extra pay during a special session. They do receive their mileage of ten cents to and from the capitol by the regular route. This mileage expense will be practically the same as for the last regular session, which was $4,100 for both houses.

Lieutenant Brandon took part in defensive operations against Zeppelin airships which raided London on the night of April 2 of this year, and was reported in dispatches to have dropped with eight incendiary bombs upon one of the raiders after mounting to a height of 9,000 feet. The Zeppelin, L-15, came down in the Thames estuary after this air raid, and sank while it was being towed by British vessels, but it was said to be not established whether this was the airship Lieutenant Brandon attacked.

Lieutenant Brandon, a native of Wellington, New Zealand, is twenty-three years old. He joined the flying corps in July, 1915. The name of Lieutenant Sowrey has not been mentioned in dispatches received here regarding British aerial activities.

Crowded Street Cars Drop Twenty-Five Feet Onto B. and O. Railroad Tracks.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Cleveland, Oct. 4.—The death list in last night's bridge tragedy, in which two street-cars plunged thirty-two feet from West Third street viaduct to the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad track, remained at two today, but of the sixty injured it was expected one or two would die.

The two cars dropped a distance of twenty-five feet onto the Baltimore & Ohio railroad tracks, which skirt the river edge.

One street car fell in such a manner as to land upside down and was splintered to bits. The other car remained right side up, but was wrecked by the heavy car end and beams of the bridge falling on it.

Cars crowded.

Many of the injured and some of the dead were women. The cars were crowded to capacity, as the accident occurred during the rush hour.

At latest reports twenty-nine persons had been taken to hospitals and one body remained in the wreckage.

The accident was caused by two street cars colliding on the bridge and running to the edge of the span. A steep incline runs to the north end of the bridge, and just before the bridge is reached there is a sharp turn in the street. While proceeding down the hill, the motorman of a southbound car lost control and the car collided with a delivery wagon.

Reported that the two cars had plowed into the river were circulated and thousands of people rushed to the scene. All the available police forces were called out and battled to force the crowd back so the work of rescue could continue.

MOTORMAN KILLED.

Police and women dragged the passengers, most of them unconscious, out of the wreckage and carried them to a nearby warehouse, where first aid was administered. Later they were taken to hospitals or undertaking rooms.

The motorman of the southbound car was crushed to death when his end of the car was torn off by the bridge girder. The motorman of the other car was badly injured.

Slides Off Track.

This threw the car off the track and it slid along the pavement and onto the bridge just in time to meet onto a northbound car. The two cars met head on, and the force of the impact threw them to one side of the bridge span over the railroad tracks. The span collapsed and the two cars, filled with injured and dead, were covered with wreckage.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 4.—A movement to organize a comprehensive plan for an after care of infantile paralysis was announced today by Dr. Linsky R. Williams, deputy state commissioner of health. The announcement said the department has secured the services of Dr. Robert W. Lovett, professor of orthopedic surgery at Harvard, who has made a study of infantile paralysis.

Dr. Williams expressed confidence that the large majority of children who appear now to be completely paralyzed can be restored to nearly normal health, or else be benefited so that they will not remain total cripples.

500 SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS TO CONVENE

WISCONSIN'S SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION'S ANNUAL MEETING TO BE HELD IN JANESEVILLE.

OBTAINEABLE SPEAKERS

Leaders of National Prominence in Sunday School Activities Will Take Part in Program.

On November 8, 9 and 10 there will be held one of the largest conventions ever assembled in Janeville, when the Wisconsin Sunday School association comes here for its fifty-sixth annual meeting.

Officials in charge of the arrangements in this city estimate that there throughout the whole land as authorities. People owe it to their children to know about these things. Here is their chance."

Prominent Speakers Secured.

Although the entire list of speakers has not yet been decided upon as yet, there are a few of such prominence that the convention is certain to be a success. Prof. O'Shea, of the department of education at the University of Wisconsin, will speak each night of the session on various points in child psychology. Miss Grace Longfellow of Minneapolis, will talk on kindergarten and primary methods. W. B. Stem of Des Moines, Iowa, who has a national reputation in the field of adult Bible study, will bring to the convention the most advanced ideas in this field. Dr. N. McEntire of Topeka, Kansas, who is a specialist in Sunday school organization work, will also be a speaker on the convention program.

Prominent choir leaders are to be present at the meetings, and it is expected that the music will be excellent; officers now intend to make a good deal of this part of the convention.

The various forms of business before the convention will be distributed through the three daily sessions. In the morning sessions, which will take place in the Congregational, English Lutheran, Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches, the different methods involved in the teaching and administration of Sunday schools will be considered in groups, each group taking up one special branch of the work.

The afternoon sessions will be devoted largely to the business of the association, for this is to be the annual business meeting of the Wisconsin Sunday School association, as well as a conference of those interested in the work carried on by these bodies. These sessions are to be held in the Methodist church. This is also to be the headquarters of the convention, where the administrative offices, the postoffice, the check rooms, and information offices will be located. In addition the exhibits will be in this church, as well as the others' exhibits and displays of work done by various Sunday Schools in the state.

Popular Evening Sessions.

The evening sessions are to be largely in the nature of mass meetings at which the principal speakers will talk. All of the meetings are open to the public, but it is expected that these evening sessions will prove the most popular, as they are more generally known to have greater appeal for the layman. They are to be conducted in the Congregational church.

Much of the preparatory work has been done by J. L. Rogers of Oshkosh, the general chairman of the association. Mr. Rogers was elected a year ago when P. H. Bryan was chosen to head the work. He is well known throughout the state as a Y. M. C. A. worker, and at the time of his election to this work, was serving as the director of the institutional work in the First Presbyterian church of Oshkosh.

An extensive advertising campaign has already been inaugurated by the officers of the association to arouse the public to the need of having a Sunday school in the state to have delegates at the convention. Large posters carrying a map of Wisconsin with lines radiating from every corner to Janeville and bearing the heading, "Any way to get to Janeville for the opening session of the 56th annual convention of the Wisconsin Sunday School association," have been sent out and will be displayed in more than 2,000 Sunday schools. Other advertising matter will follow.

CONGENIAL TWENTY CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

The Congenial Twenty club held the first meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. C. C. Campbell on Oct. 3, in the basement of the Methodist church. The work accomplished last season was read. Annual election of officers for the coming season of 1916-17 resulted in reelection of the present incumbents: President, Miss Ida Harris; vice-president, Miss Gertrude Cobb; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. A. T. Kenmett; Historian, Mrs. May Rogan. A nice pleasant social hour was spent, followed by a delicious supper served by the hostess.

"People do not realize what we are doing in these lines," remarked Rev. Francis H. Brigham, who is chairman of the local committee on arrangements. "Those who have not followed closely the work of the Sunday school through the last ten years can have no conception of the wide range of activities we cover. Here will be a chance for the layman to get in touch with the most advanced ideas in the field of religious education. Here is afforded the citizens an opportunity to hear men and women speak on matters pertaining to religious education, and the rearing of children in general; men and women who have made a life study of one particular line and who are recognized

OBITUARY

Miss Nellie Estelle Hubbell.

Last night at nine o'clock Miss Nellie Estelle Hubbell passed away at the Mercy Hospital, following an operation for tumor. Miss Hubbell was born in July, 1878, in the town of Fulton, and lived on a farm there all her life. She was a most lovable woman, and one who was always willing to sacrifice her own interest for those who were near and dear to her. Many people in this section of the country will be greatly shocked to hear of her death, and extend to the sorrowing brothers and sisters the warmest sympathy. She is survived by three brothers: Fred Hubbard of Porter and John and Will Hubbard, who live on the home farm, and by one sister, Miss Minnie Hubbard, of Beloit. The deceased was a faithful member of the Congregational church of Fulton.

Because of the absence of one of the brothers who is visiting in New York, the funeral arrangements will not be announced until later.

Straws Show—
Motorists buy a certain make of tires for the first time because it is sold to them—through advertising, salesmanship, or the good words of satisfied users.

But motorists continue to buy that make of tire only because the first tires have made good—have given satisfactory mileage and service.

Motorists bought United States Tires so consistently that, during the first seven and one-half months of this year, we sold and delivered more tires than during the entire twelve months of last year.

And motorists are continuing to buy United States Tires at the same phenomenal rate.

If straws show which way the wind blows, such phenomenal sales increases certainly show where the best tire service comes from.

FINNEGAN'S PHILOSOPHY.

After telling how Roosevelt handled the Venezuela situation, Finnegans gives the following program of a week at the White House under President Wilson:

"How is it now? The greasers' daughters twenty at Santa Isabel. Another Mexican Crisis," says the headlines. "Twenty Americans killed," they say. "The President Calm," says they. "Ates Bacon and Eggs." Plays Goliat," says the headlines. An' the paper goes on:

"The Prisidint's appytime at breakfast was good, th' leader iv the na-shun gettin' outside iv grape fruit, bacon an' eggs, hot biscuit an' coffee. When Doether Grayson announced the bill iv tare the tinshun over Mexico, was much relieved.

"The Prisidint is solvin' in privacy the lobal question, "Will me throat fact?" The answer is waited wid re-efish anxiety."

"Mundah, the papers says 'Nashun-al Disaster?' Sore Throat Weared, Pantie at the Capital. The Prisidint Calm.

"Consernation was spread among all classes today by the report that the Prisidint awoke with a sore throat. Strong men fainted before they could reach the nearest saloon. There is talk iv apoinin' a day iv prayer. It is hoped that Señor Arre-ve-on-though will claim that the dead Americans rassisted intesluding. A high authority states that this wad end the crisis. The Prisidint made but wan remark: 'As they'd not been there they'd not iv been kit!'

"Choozah, they says, 'Hope revives No storn throat. Bitten by insect. Prisidint calma. All Phrases iv Matther to be considered.'

"Repeal anxiety in the Capital was relieved today by the followin' bulletin: 'The Prisidint has a slight per-torion in the cuticle over the infec-ture maxinary caused be a insect bitin' him while asleep. The patient was too proud to scratch. Signed' Grayson."

"It is reported also that General Scott will go to the border to bury the dead, and apologize to the insurgents. He will axe Carranza, whether he wud accept a loan if offered. This is considered the three stulion iv the difficutly."

"Whaddah the Prisidint goes motor-in. Thursdah he writes a note and General Scott starts for the border. Prisidint the headlines says 'Peace in Europe near.' Prisidint studin' terms. Will he stop the war? Another note expected. Capital excited over re-report."

"But we're comforted bein' towld the Prisidint will not be bethrayed into hairy action."

"Stundah, he's considerin' th' Ar-meyon question, an' Mondah he ad-vises Grandmothers about suckin' eggs. And another crisis is past."

"So it goes ivry day. As I was say, in' there's a plenty publicity, but 'tis not the brand iv 1912."

A STRONG ENDORSEMENT.

The Chicago Tribune, in commenting editorially on Colonel Roosevelt's speech at Battle Creek, has this to say:

"It is the most formidable indict-ment of Woodrow Wilson's presi-dency which has been made or is likely to be made. No American ex-eutive has ever been subjected to so searching, so overwhelming, and at the same time just, an analysis of his official character."

"But it is more, much more, than an indictment of Mr. Wilson's presi-dency. It is also one of the most eloquent appeals ever made to the con-science of a people. We are sorry for any American man or woman who does not respond to this challenge. We are sorry for our American re-publican if the impassioned eloquence of this appeal does not renew within its soul the splendid spirit of its his-toric past, rousing it from the slug-gard and expedient mood of the pres-ent day to face with the old courage and confidence and aspiration the du-ties, responsibilities and opportunities of this great epoch in the life of all nations."

Secretary Daniels, and other demo-cratic speakers, treat the address as the vapors of a diseased mind, but the facts presented and the argu-ments advanced can not be disposed of by a wave of the hand. Colonel Roosevelt talks from experience. He was confronted by many questions similar in import to problems which President Wilson has been asked to solve. The manner in which he handled them outlines the difference between the men. There would have been no war with Germany, or no trouble with Mexico with Colonel Roosevelt in command, and the dis-graceful hold-up of congress, at the close of the session, would not have occurred.

Colonel Roosevelt has redeemed himself and the republican party is glad to welcome him back and will be glad to honor him as occasion presents.

STAY BY THE FACTS.

The men who are attempting to malign the Gazette and the Commercial club by claiming that they are enemies to the milk industry, or any other industry which is vital to the welfare of the city or county, are either wilfully or ignorantly misrepresenting the facts.

The arguments advanced are with-out weight. The Gazette is speaking for itself every day, and the paper enjoys a reputation for enterprise which it is not ashamed. It has invested time and money freely for everything that came along from the days of "Windy Hamilton" to the present time.

Four years ago the paper put on the first corn contest with a cash investment of seven hundred dollars, and all the time necessary to carry the project to a successful issue. The next year the Commercial club took up the work and has since carried it on, enlarging the field, until it now embraces farm and garden contests, as well as good roads.

This is a work of education, pure and simple. Its object is to encourage the boy on the farm, at an age when he needs encouraging. As a side issue, which is also important, it has demonstrated to the farmers the value of intensified farming by causing two bushels of corn to grow where one grew before.

The Gazette is ready with money and what influence it may be able to exert, to aid in establishing a milk depot, a factory, or anything else that will contribute to the prosperity of the city and county. Let us pull together with a will and give the tongue—that unruly member—a rest.

The new curate was very anxious that he should look his smartest while preaching his first sermon. But when he arrived at the church he found that the vestry contained no mirror, so he sought the sexton, an old Scotzman, and asked in low, nervous tones:

"Er, James, can I, is that, do you think you could get me a glass?"

James, with a shake of his head, disappeared, returning after a few minutes, carrying something under his coat. Then it was that the mistaken James withdrew with great care a large black bottle, saying at the same time:

"Ye mauna let on about it; for I got it as a special favor, an' I wadna ha' got it at a' if I hadn't told 'em it wiz fur you"—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Democratic free trade cost us a loss of fifty million dollars a year in revenue on sugar, and so far as heard from, the ultimate consumer is paying the freight at both ends of the line. When the tariff was on, sugar was selling around five cents, but nickel sugar is a thing of the past.

Colonel Henry Watterson of the Louisville Courier-Journal, an old line democrat, is not a staunch supporter of Wilson. He says that Wilsonian democracy does not appeal to him, and he wholly regrets the cant and hypocrisy of the "uplift."

The driver who waves his hand at the motorman, and calls for the right of way, may know all about the courtesies of the road, but his judgment is a little off color. Street cars are not in the habit of turning out unless they jump the track.

The Daily Novelette

BY DARBERY'S COAST.

—The man who strains at a gnat and swallows a camel would choke on a fishbone and swallow a fish story whole.

—Prof. Simp.

"Speaking of fish stories," said Colonel Harry Beeter—although as a matter of fact the members of the Neck to Nature club had been talkin' of what they should—"reminds me of an odd experience I had with sharks, or rather a shark, in tropical waters off the coast of Darbary."

Two of the members hurriedly went home, and the colonel resumed. "In the spring of 1881, it was a bad shark year on the Darbary coast. I went swimming in spite of the natives' warnings. Sure enough, scarcely one hundred feet from shore, I came face to face with a forty foot leopard shark, a beauty, I can tell you, though needless to say I was in no mood for appreciating beauty at the time."

"Now I'd heard lots of quelling lions and other such land critters with the power of the human eye, and a sudden inspiration came to me to try it on the shark. And I did, gentlemen, I did. I believe you know a shark has to turn over on his back before he can get a bite at you. Well, always being used to keeping my eyes open under water, it was easily caught, though just as he was turning over for the fatal maul. So, to hold his gaze, I had to turn over on my back, and there we were, a pretty pair, drowsy, glaring at each other on our backs in the Sea of Mushak. The shark kept turning over and over in an effort to break the spell, but I kept revolving with him and never let my eyes off his, you may be sure. In the end, a native swam out and finished him off with a spear, and I am sure you would like to see his gizzard the shark's, of course. I have it at my home in alcohol."

And the colonel smiled his sweet smile and retired in triumph.

TAFT AND ROOSEVELT EXCHANGE GREETINGS

"How Do You Do?" Says Each to the Other at Union League Club Reception.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 4.—Charles E. Hughes, Theodore Roosevelt and William H. Taft spoke Tuesday night from the same platform at a reception given Mr. Hughes by the Union League club this city.

Arrangements were made to bring Colonel Roosevelt and Mr. Taft face to face for the first time in more than a year. They clasped hands for a moment, each said to the other, "How do you do?" and bowed. Colonel Roosevelt then passed on to take his place in the receiving line.

Later in the evening Colonel Roosevelt and Mr. Taft met again in the elevator with Chauncey M. Depew and George R. Sheldon. Colonel Roosevelt, it was reported, inquired after the health of Mrs. Taft. They did not meet again during the evening.

Messrs. Hughes, Roosevelt and Taft addressed the club members and their guests after the formal reception in the main room of the club. In their speeches each assailed the administration more vigorously than ever before during the present campaign.

Alternative Is Peace.

"We have heard in recent days," Mr. Hughes said, "that the alternative of the policy of the present administration is war. I think that the alternative of the present administration is peace with honor."

Colonel Roosevelt vigorously de-nounced the administration's foreign policy—declaring that there would be no debate in the German reichstag as to the resumption of submarine warfare "if they knew they had as president of the United States a man who would not tolerate any kind of action of that sort."

Mr. Wilson's Speech.

President Wilson's speech on Saturday, Colonel Roosevelt said, left an inference that if he were re-elected into war, "leaving it to be inferred by the outside world that he would be inclined to that he would fight."

"Mr. Wilson's speech last Saturday," Colonel Roosevelt continued, "was an invitation to foreign powers to do whatever they wished, because if he were in power, they need not be afraid.

"Mr. Wilson," Colonel Roosevelt said, is praised for the most part by people whose shoulders shrug like a champagne bottle, by people with full hearts and quavering voices, who say that "he has kept us out of war."

Mr. Taft said that he concurred in the view of Mr. Roosevelt that this election is the "most important" since the civil war, and declared that he did not consider the administration had kept the country out of war.

EPISCOPALIANS TO MEET AT ST. LOUIS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 4.—Arrangements are announced here for the annual general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, which will be held in St. Louis, beginning October 11, to continue for the greater part of three weeks.

TO SECURE SPEAKERS ON CAMPAIGN ISSUES

CHAIRMAN STARR OF COUNTY COMMITTEE HOPES TO ARRANGE G. O. P. MASS MEETINGS.

HUGHES TO WIN STATE

Representative of National Committee Makes Prediction That Wisconsin Will Give Hughes 50,000 Majority.

F. P. Starr, chairman of the county republican committee, plans to secure a number of prominent campaign speakers for Hughes and other republican candidates to make addresses in Rock county within the next few weeks. He will take the stump in this part of the state not been decided, but Mr. Starr plans to confer soon with the state central committee to determine what arrangements can be made. While the county republican committee is confident that Rock county's majority for the republican ticket will be greater than in any previous year, the real importance of stirring up some enthusiasm and it is expected that some rousing mass meetings can be scheduled, both in Janesville and in Beloit.

Local Men May Talk.

"We shall endeavor to get several prominent outside orators to live things up in old Rock county," declared Chairman Starr, "but I am hopeful that we can interest a number of prominent local men within the county to get into the harness for a few weeks and do their part in various parts of the county. We need to get interest and enthusiasm aroused in order to poll a heavy vote in November."

Meanwhile predictions are being made that Hughes will carry Wisconsin by a majority of 50,000 to 55,000 votes. The odds are in his favor in Milwaukee on Tuesday by James Elliott, representing the national committee.

"Perhaps just as interesting as the growing strength in Wisconsin of Mr. Hughes," Elliott is quoted as saying, "is the unmistakable movement among Badger state republicans to be Republicans in the coming election."

Praise for Committee.

"The work of our fair committee of the state central committee has inspired confidence. Men understand that there are no hidden cards, that the committee is earnestly and conscientiously working for party success. Wisconsin will have less factionalism in the November election than it has experienced in years.

"They have visited every congressional district and have discussed the situation with the support of Senator La Follette and Gov. Philipp. The trend, believe it, is Hughes, Philipp and La Follette. The progressives will vote the republican ticket.

Hughes is Gaining.

"Mr. Hughes is rapidly gaining strength in Wisconsin. His position on the Adamson bill is sound and has made him many friends here as well as elsewhere. Union men realize that this measure is a wage regulating proposition, and if it means anything it means the elimination of unions. If congress is going to undertake the regulation of hours of work and the rate of pay, there will be no further use for unions."

"Mr. Hughes is pro-American and meets the public demand in this country and in Wisconsin."

People understand and appreciate the soundness of his criticism of the president, particularly with respect to the manner in which the consular service has been weakened.

Farmers Not Fooled.

"Badger state farmers realize that the coming election is a business matter of life and death. They are not fooled or misled by false prosperity built on the European war. Wisconsin is a republican and a protection state. Without protection your people would be hard hit in the industrial warfare that is certain to follow the conflict in Europe. Your dairying, your lumber and your general manufacturing stand in protection.

The drift of sentiment in this state is much the same as in other states. It is growing stronger for the republican ticket. It is this steady, constantly growing feeling that spells success. Mr. Hughes wears well."

Heart and Home Problems

Letters may be addressed to Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, in care of The Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl twenty-four years old, and I am going with a young man a few years older than myself. He loves me and has asked to marry me. I love him too, but I am afraid to marry him because the girl he loves isn't me.

He has idealized me until I am a creature of his imagination. Instead of my real self, I have told him this and he denies it. He thinks I love the books and music he does, and I don't, and have told him so, but he won't listen to me. I love him because he likes those things, but his appreciation is much better than mine. Do you think I would be foolish to marry the man the way things are? — ALICE W.

Since you love the man and admire his taste I think it would be safe to marry him. Your appreciation will constantly grow as you become more familiar with his books and pictures. Besides, it is your character and personality he loves, not your knowledge of literature and music. It, however, you feel your tastes and personal don't harmonize. Ideals are often shattered after marriage and there is not a firm foundation of congenial tastes a husband and wife are not happy together.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My nose is very oily and I would like to have you print a good remedy for it. I have used alcohol after washing, but it doesn't do any good. In a short time after I put powder on my nose it looks as though grease were on it. I would give her what I thought would best suit her taste. If she likes to read give her a book, and if she doesn't read much give her candy.

Training a Husband

"Something is burning, Morris," now." Let him lie down here on the bed till it stops hurting," pleaded Marian. "I can't see what good it is doing you to stay in bed if you have everything on your mind. I guess the doctor will not prescribe the rest cure for you again," was the sailor's answer. Marian crept back to bed, saying under her breath: "I hope he won't. One dose of this is all I can take." She closed her eyes wearily. "Oh, mother, Roger has cut himself; it's all bloody," came in a strident whisper through the keyhole.

"Open the door, Frank," she called Marian from the bedroom door. "They're going to come to me." Marian sprang out of bed and opened the medicine chest. "What did you tell her for?" came in angry tones from the kitchen. "I've a notion to—" A confused noise followed.

Roger appeared at the door crying softly. "How did you do it, dear?" asked Marian.

"I was helping father, and—sobs choked his utterance.

"Never mind, mother, I will fix it all right. It's only a little cut, even if it does bleed a lot." She deftly washed and dressed the wound.

Morris appeared in the doorway without pausing from his unwanted exertions in the kitchen.

"Now come out of there. I never saw anything like it. This room is the center of all the confusion in the house, and nothing can go right. Everything conspires to keep you from resting. Come, that is all right."

HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

THE EFFECTS OF GALLSTONES

About one in every ten individuals over forty has gallstones whether she knows it or not. The very worst victim, that ever suffers intestinal indigestion, we do not know how many subjects of gallstone disease pass through life without colic or other alarming symptoms. We do know that a considerable number of them ultimately develop cancer of the gall-sac or liver.

A gallstone, so long as it stays in itself, will cause no severe pain if it only remains static, works out into the bile duct, the colic develops. The colic is caused by spasmodic muscular contractions in the endeavor to dislodge the obstruction. Biliary colic or gall-stone colic is a characteristic symptom of gall-stones. Intense spasmodic pain in the upper abdomen with collapse, followed by chill, then high fever, and finally a profuse sweat is typical if the patient becomes jaundiced next day, the diagnosis is clinched.

But an inflamed gall-sac is painful in itself, whether gallstones are present or not. The pain is in direct ratio with the amount of inflammation and the extent of adhesions which bind the little egg-sized bile reservoir to surrounding structures as a result of previous inflammation. Recurring attacks of gall-sac inflammation probably depend upon re-infection from the original focus, the infection from the teeth, tonsils or pelvic infection.

Chronic gall-sac inflammation (cholecystitis), with or without gallstones, is frequently a cause of headaches and sometimes of disturbance of heart action. Indeed, many a victim of prolonged heart trouble is really a gall-bladder case. Operation or perhaps suitable medical treatment of the gall-sac disease improves the heart action in a way the patient and family would hardly deem possible. Any woman around thirty-five or forty, with "indigestion," gas, and susceptibility to definite articles of diet, who thinks she has heart trouble, had better find out if she hasn't gallstones.

"Innocent" gallstones are not ad-

Household Hints

THE TABLE.

Corn Pudding—One can corn, or six ears, one cup milk, one tablespoon flour, one cup butter, little salt and sugar, two well beaten eggs. Put together in order given and bake until it rises, oval in center.

Custard Tomato Salad Course—Remove blossom end of tomato, scoop out inside, refill with chopped celery, nuts, little pineapple and rich mayonnaise over all; serve on crisp lettuce. Tomato is always much more acceptable peeled.

Custard Apple Pie—Make a heavy custard, add yolks of three eggs with little cinnamon; bake in single crust until set; whip whites of eggs stiff, add three tablespoons granulated sugar, spread over top and brown.

Cheese Balls—Mold cream cheese in balls, holding all of the nut meats possible.

Custards—One cup boiling water, one cup sugar, juice and rind (grated) of one lemon, one heaping tablespoon cornstarch, yolks of three eggs, cook in order named; fill sherbet glasses, add meringue made of egg-whites, brown in oven and cool.

Creamed Meat—Take half a pound cooked meat, chop fine, one cup flour, a half cup flour to thicken. Stir meat into milk. When hot add thickening and seasoning. Pour over toast. This is a good way to use left over meat.

Peach Cobbler—Two cups flour, three-fourths cup milk, two tablespoons baking powder, one egg, one cup sugar, one cup butter, add egg and milk. Mix and roll till one-fourth inch thick, line the sides of a bake pan, invert a cup in the center and put peaches around it. Put on sugar, then top crust and bake half hour in hot oven. Invert pudding on deep platter and serve with milk and cream.

Baked Potatoes—Select medium-sized potatoes and bacon. Cut small pieces from end of potato, scoop out hole in center and place slice of bacon in the hole, pin the end on potato and bake.

Carrots—Boil carrots in salt water until tender, drain, pour over them until they are moist.

Marshmallow Pudding—Whites of five eggs, one cup sugar, one-half box sparkling gelatin, two-thirds cup cold water on gelatin (placed in pan of hot water), let cool. Beat eggs very stiff.

In gelatin slowly, beating constantly. Dissolve color and put in one-half of mixture. Rinse pan with cold water, pour in layer about color and white, sprinkling ground nuts between layers. Cut in slices and serve with whipped cream.

Peach Frosting—Whites of two eggs, one cup sugar, one cup peaches. Beat whites of eggs with sugar and beaten sliced fine. Beat until it is of the consistency of whipped cream. Put beaten layers and on top of cake. Any cake recipe.

Escorted Tomatoes—Drain the liquid from a can of tomatoes and put aside for soup or gravy. Chop the soft part of tomatoes fine; season with salt and pepper to taste, half teaspoon of onion to accent, tablespoon of butter and same amount of sugar. Cover bottom of buttered pudding dish with a layer of crumbs, and dot with bits of butter. Bake fifteen minutes, or until hot through and lightly browned on top.

Strawberry Cake—One cup sugar, scant one-half cup shortening, one cup of two eggs, one cup flour, one cup of berries (half juice and half berries), one teaspoon baking powder in flour. When all mixed together add whites of two eggs well beaten, fold in lightly. Will make two nice layers. Icing: Two cups powdered sugar, two tablespoons butter rubbed together until smooth, then add whites of two eggs well beaten. Beat hard and spread on cake. Add a few drops of vanilla if so desired. Two tablespoons of cream may be substituted for egg whites when eggs are so high.

CANNING AND PRESERVING.

Pineapple-Pear Honey—Pear and corncob one rock salt (the riper the better). Cook until tender, press through a fine press or sieve. Take a 16-ounce can of grated pineapple.

Pear and Pineapple and Cook: when boiling add half as much sugar and cook slowly until of a honey consistency. This needs watching and stirring, as it burns easily. Seal in pint jars while hot.

Green Tomato Conserve—Slice one green tomato, core and cook ten minutes in very slightly salted water. Drain thoroughly, add three lemons sliced and seeded, one pound seedless raisins and four pounds sugar. Cool until clear and thick. Seal in cans.

Indian Relish—Twelve red peppers, twelve green peppers, three yellow peppers (seeds removed), twelve onions put through a food chopper. Put in colander and pour boiling water over. Make a syrup of three pints vinegar, two cups sugar, four tablespoons of salt; spices to taste. Cook all from one to 1½ hours, stirring frequently to keep from burning.

QUESTIONs AND ANSWERS.

What to Do for Everybody's Ailment.

I have taken all sorts of pills, tonics, hot water, salts, mineral oil, enemas and herbs, but am still a sufferer from constipation. What can you suggest, if anything, for an inveterate case?

ANSWER.—Swear solemnly not to take another dose of physic. Eat large amounts of fruits, especially dried fruits containing seeds or having skins. Take a tablespoonful of bran or more, eat for a while, in soup, or with cereal or in the form of cookies or gels. Eat freely of butter, cream, olive oil, but meats and gravies. All fifty-two you are not as supple as you once were, perhaps, but try your best to turn a few somersaults each morning, or at least get down and do a bow-constrictor.

SISTERS IN AUSTRIAN ORDER APPLY FOR U. S. CITIZENSHIP

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Pittsburgh, Oct. 4.—Mother Mary Emerentiana, leader of the Vincentian Sisters of Charity, an Austro-Australian teaching order with a large membership in this country, today renounced her allegiance to Emperor Francis Joseph and applied for American citizenship in the federal court here, under the law which naturalizes women as well as men.

Mother Emerentiana was accompanied by two sisters of the order, and the two others, aged thirty, would make similar applications this week. The application followed the determination of the order to remain permanently in this country.

I told the Missus of my plan, our nine-year-old high-stepping fan, picked up what I unfurled, I did not think he looked quite pleased, 'fore long my mind on this was eased, and like a leaf I curled, remorse soon took the place of pride, I dreamt not of my fliver ride, I was a wretched man, the kid said, "Should you buy a fliv, your spins to others you may give—I'll ride in no tin can."

PUNISHING CHILDREN

If all the punishments that are visited on children in anger or irritation or annoyance were withheld, I think the average child's punishments would be cut in half.

It is really astonishing to see how even the well-bred, well-intentioned, conscientious mothers will let themselves be influenced by irritation or annoyance in the treatment of a beloved child.

And yet it is astonishing when one remembers what havoc close contact with small children is apt to play with one's nerves?

Why Are They So Tiring? Why is it, when they are so adorable?

Perhaps because they are so much more energy than we. You know grown-up people who are too full of nervous energy are apt to be wearisome. I know some one will assure me by mail that right-feeling mothers do not mind their children being tiring. I beg to differ. There are some women who have the gift of dealing with children just as some have the gift of song or of skill with the needle, but I know many sweet, conscientious women who are tired out by too close contact with their brood.

She Found Herself Eager To Punish Just the other day I found a young mother sitting in my eyes. I said, "I'm not going to punish Ruth," she said, "when I found I was really taking pleasure in doing it so I stopped right off. How can I be so cruel to my own children. I must be a perfect brute."

"On the contrary," I said, "you are an unusual thoughtful conscientious mother. Many women vent their irritation on their children every day without ever realizing that is what

"Oh!" cried Ray Longstreth, mingled distress and anger.
"The ranger service wants to rule western Texas," went on Lawson. "These rangers are all a low set. This is one of the worst of the lot. He's to be feared. He would kill. If your father had made the least move he would have shot him. He's a cold-blooded devil—the horn gunman. My God, any instant I expected to see your father fall dead at my feet."

"Oh, Floyd! The unspeakable ruffian!" cried Ray Longstreth, passionately.

"What do you care for the insinuations of such a man?" said Ray Longstreth. His voice was deep and rich with feeling. "After a moment's thought no one will be influenced by them. Do not worry, Floyd. Tell pup not to worry. Surely after all these years he can't be injured in reputation by—by an adventurer."

"Yes, he can be injured," replied Floyd quickly. "The frontier is a queer place. There are many bitter men here—men who have failed at ranching. And your father has been wonderfully successful. The ranger has dropped poison, and it'll spread."

CHAPTER XIX.

Strangers rode into Fairdale; and other hard-looking customers, new to Duane if not to Fairdale, helped to create a charged and waiting atmosphere. The saloons did unusual business and were never closed. Respectable citizens of the town were awakened in the early dawn by rowdies carousing in the streets.

Duane kept pretty close under cover during the day. He did not entertain the opinion that the first time he walked down-street he would be a target for guns. Things seldom happened that way; and when they did happen so, it was more accident than design. But at night he was not idle. He met Laramie, Morton, Zimmerman and others of like character; a secret club had been formed; and all the members were ready for action. Duane spent hours at night watching the house where Floyd Lawson stayed when he was not up at Longstreth's. At night he was visited, or at least the house was, by strange men who were swift, stealthy, mysterious—all that kindly disposed friends or neighbors would not have been. Duane had not been able to recognize any of those night visitors; and he did not think the time was ripe for a bold holding up of one of them. Nevertheless, he was sure such an event would discover Lawson or someone in that house, to be in touch with crooked men.

Laramie was right. Not twenty-four hours after his talk with Duane, in which he advised quick action, he was found behind the little bar of his restaurant with a bullet-hole in his breast, dead. No one could be found who had heard a shot. It had been deliberate murder, for upon the bar had been left a piece of paper crudely scribbled with a pencil: "All friends of rangers look for the same."

This roused Duane. His first move, however, was to bury Laramie. None of Laramie's neighbors evinced any interest in the dead man or the unfortunate family he had left. Duane saw that these neighbors were held in check by fear. Mrs. Laramie was 10; the shock of her husband's death was hard on her; and she had been left almost destitute with five children. Duane rented an adobe house on the outskirts of town and moved the family into it. Then he played the part of provider and nurse and friend.

After several days Duane went boldly into town and showed that he meant business. It was his opinion that there were men in Fairdale secretly glad of a ranger's presence. What he intended to do was food for great speculation. A company of militia could not have had the effect upon the wild element of Fairdale that Duane's presence had. It got out that he was a gunman lightning swift on the draw. It was death to him. He had killed thirty men.

wildest rumor of all. It was actually said of him, he had the gun-skill of Buck Duane or Pogo.

At first there had not only been great conjecture among the vicious element, but also a very decided checking of all kinds of action calculated to be conspicuous to a keen-eyed ranger. At the tables, at the bars and lounging-places Duane heard the remarks: "Who's that ranger after? What'll he do first off? Is he waitin' for somebody? Who's goin' to draw on him first—an' go to hell?" Just about how soon will he be found somewhere full of lead?"

When it came out somewhere that Duane was cultivating the honest stay-at-home citizens to array them in time against the other element, then Fairdale showed its wolf teeth. Several times Duane was shot at in the dark and once slightly injured. Rumor had it that Pogo, the gunman, was coming to meet him. But the lawless element did not rise up in a mass to slay Duane on sight. It was not so much that the enemies of the law awaited his next move, but just a slowness peculiar to the frontier. There was a rude kind of good humor even in their open hostile attitude.

Besides, one ranger or a company of rangers could not have held the undivided attention of these men from their games and drinks and quarrels except by some decided move. Element, greed, appetite were ripe in them. Duane marked, however, a striking exception to the usual run of strangers he had been in the habit of seeing. Snicker had gone or was under cover. Again Duane caught a vague rumor of the coming of Pogo; yet he never seemed to arrive. Moreover, the goings-on among the habitations of the resorts and cowboys who came in to drink and gamble were unusually mild in comparison with former conduct. This null, however, did not deceive Duane. It could not last. The wonder was that it had lasted so long.

Duane went often to see Mrs. Laramie and her children. One afternoon while he was there he saw Miss Longstreth and Ruth ride up to the door. They carried a basket. Evidently they had heard of Mrs. Laramie's trouble. Duane felt strangely glad, but he went into an adjoining room rather than meet them.

"Mrs. Laramie, I've come to see you," said Miss Longstreth, cheerfully.

The little room was not very light, there being only one window and the doors, but Duane could see plainly enough. Mrs. Laramie lay, hollow-cheeked and haggard, on a bed. Once she had evidently been a woman of some comeliness. The ravages of trouble and grief were there to read in her worn face; it had not, however, any of the hard and bitter lines that had characterized her husband's.

Duane wondered, considering that Longstreth had ruined Laramie, how Mrs. Laramie was going to regard the daughter of an enemy.

"So you're Granger Longstreth's girl?" queried the woman, with her bright, black eyes fixed on her visitor. "Yes," replied Miss Longstreth, simply. "This is my cousin, Ruth Herbert. We've come to nurse you, take care of the children, help you in any way you'll let us."

There was a long silence.

"Well, you look a little like Longstreth," finally said Mrs. Laramie, "but you're not at all like him. You must take after your mother. Miss Longstreth, I don't know if I can—if I ought to accept anything from you. Your father ruined my husband."

"Yes, I know," replied the girl sadly. "That's all—the more reason you should let me help you. Pray don't refuse. It will mean much to me."

If this poor, stricken woman had any resentment it speedily melted in the warmth and sweetness of Miss Longstreth's manner, and no sooner had she begun to talk to the children than both they and the mother were won. The opening of that big basket was an event. Poor, starved little beggars! The havoc was wrought in that household. The needs now were cheerfulness, kindness, help—action—and these girls furnished with a spirit that did Duane good.

"Mrs. Laramie, who dressed this baby?" presently asked Miss Longstreth.

"And it's good of you, too, Miss Herbert, to come," added Duane. "Let me thank you both. I'm glad I have you girls as allies in part of my lonely task here. More than glad for the sake of this good woman and the little ones. But both of you be careful about coming here alone. There's risk. And now I'll be going. Good-bye, Mrs. Laramie. I'll drop in again to-night. Good-bye."

"Mr. Ranger, wait!" called Miss Longstreth as he went out. She was white and wonderful. She stepped out of the door close to him.

"I have wronged you," she said, impulsively.

"Miss Longstreth! How can you say that?" he returned.

"I believed what my father and Floyd Lawson said about you. Now I see—I wronged you."

"You make me very glad. But Miss Longstreth, please don't speak of wronging me. I have been—a gunman. I am a ranger—and much said of me is true. My duty is hard on others—sometimes on those who are innocent, alms! But God knows that duty is hard, too, on me."

"I did wrong you. If you entered my home again I would think it an honor. I—"

"Please—please don't. Miss Longstreth," interrupted Duane.

"But sir, my conscience flays me," she went on. There was no other sound like her voice. "Will you take my hand? Will you forgive me?"

She gave it royally, while the other was there pressing at her breast. Duane took the proffered hand. He did not know what else to do.

They Help.
Men with a knack of getting rich are always able to hire plenty of financial experts at comparatively low salaries to help with the details.

Weaver has a book on "What to Do Before the Doctor Comes," and I must hurry up before she does it."

A lawyer tells this story of himself and his efforts to correct the manners of his office boy. One morning the young autocrat came into the office, and, tossing his cap at a hook, exclaimed:

"Say, Mr. Jones, there's a ball game down at the park today, and I'm going."

The lawyer thought he would teach him a lesson.

"Harry, he said, "that isn't the way to ask a favor." Now, you come over here and sit down, and I'll show you how to do it."

The boy took the office chair, and his employer picked up the cap and stepped outside. He then opened the door softly, and, holding the cap in his hand, said quietly to the boy in the chair:

"Please, sir, there is a ball game at the park today. If you can spare me, I would like to get away for the afternoon."

Whereupon the boy replied: "Why, certainly, Harry; and here is 50 cents to pay your way in."

"Who gave the bride away?" asked Mrs. Jones of her daughter, who had just returned from the wedding.

"Her little brother," replied the daughter; "he stood up in the middle of the ceremony and yelled, 'Hurrah, Blanche, you've got him at last!'"

SKIDS FOR TINKER DOPESTERS' BELIEF; MADE POOR SHOWING

Present Manager of Cubs Rated by Those Supposed to Know as N.
G. Type of Manager.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

They're busy all around the big league circuits picking a new manager for Joe Tinker, the helmsman of the Cubs.

And, no matter what denials may be made, it is certain that where there is so much talk there must be something for it.

Tinker had two chances to make good as a major league manager and once he had an opportunity in the Federal league, which made a bold bid for major league rating. His success was poor in Cincinnati, and although he did better in Chicago at the head of the Fed's his record did not rate high enough to doubtless help the club of that league in ball players and might have won a penalty even if they had been left to figure their own plays.

Denials of this rumor, like all such things, are bound to come. But rumors of Tinker's approaching dethronement are gaining strength daily. Larry Doyle and Arthur Wilson are prominent among those men in Brooklyn as being noised about in underground channels that Jack Coombs will wear the manager's spangles next year in the Cub's park.

It is said Weegham made the trade which sent Zimmerman to New York and Doyle to Chicago with the purpose of making Doyle manager. It is also said that Wilson was taken back by the Pirates for the same reason.

Tinker has done poorly in Chicago.
He has disposed of many ball players, keeping many of his misfit Fed's on deck and has made a poor showing. Vic Sauer, a star last year, has been displaced in many games in favor of Molophilus, purchased from Cleveland. Steve Yerkes, Red Sox discarded, is trying to do duty at second, and Wortman, a wea hitter, and a recruit, is pastimising at short. Zimmerman was disposed of to make room for Zeider at third, and in the outfield, Kelly, Mann, Flack, and a few others have tried their hands with little success. Kelly Mann appears to be the only real ball player in the outfield. Jimmy Archer remains on the catching staff, but Elliot Hendrix and Lavendar still are hurlers with the club, with several recruits in the string. Carter and Perry appear to be real pitchers, but they are recruits and their days of victory still are on the way.

BROOKLYN RUNNER UP IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

Defeat Giants as Boston Trims Philadelphia in Two Games—New York Has Early Lead.

The Brooklyn club won the pennant in the National league by defeating the Giants Tuesday 9 to 6, while Philadelphia, the contender, was losing a double-header to the Braves.

The game was a heavy hitting affair in which three pitchers were knocked out of the box. After giving the Giants a three-run lead, Smith the southpaw, was relieved by Peffer in the ninth inning and the latter was effective. Brooklyn pounded Benton and Perritt for five hits and four runs in the third, and later hit George Smith, who relieved Perritt, in his bounces.

Smith's two errors in the first inning played a large part in aiding the New York's to pile up a lead. Burns left off with a hit to right, which he out and went to second when the pitcher threw wildly to first. Smith fumbled Herzog's sacrifice.

Burns going to third and Herzog reaching first safely. Robertson singled, scoring Burns and Herzog went on Wheat's poor throw to the plate. He was run off by Robertson when Zimmerman went out on an infeld tap and put out. Fletcher drove in a home run, scoring Robertson ahead of him.

Philadelphia has a monopoly of National champions. In addition to R.
Robertson, Williams, the champion pitcher, the world's champion court tennis player is Jay Gould, member of the Philadelphia Racquet club, while the world racquet title is held by a professional of the same club, Jack Souter.

Clare Cassel has been barred from amateur tennis tournaments because she taught tennis last winter and gave exhibitions with a partner.
On the other hand, Arthur Shafer, who played professional baseball with the Giants for several years, is now an amateur golfer in good standing!

Many Leave Field After Boston Wins
First Game and Terminating Chance to Stop Brooklyn.

Boston helped Brooklyn clinch the National league pennant yesterday by beating the Phillips twice. The scores were 6 to 3 and 6 to 1. Bad errors after two were out in the seventh gave the Braves five runs and the first game. With runners on third and second and two out, Stock fumbled Fitzpatrick's grounder. Doubles by Ko-patrick and Maguire and errors by Byrne and Fletcher allowed the Phillips made eight hits off Rudolph Paskert smashing a homer in the fifth.

The Phillips continued their poor playing in the second game, Boston winning with ease. Nineteen thousand persons saw the home team defeated, many leaving the field after the first defeat as the air was full of hisses.

in his elbow to an injury suffered fourteen years ago in Baltimore. All we have to say is that a man who could pitch the kind of ball he has up to fourteen years with his elbow floating around, as the doctors say, is some artist. We hope he will do as well for the next fourteen years, with the bone removed. *

An odd bit of strategy won for the Red Sox over Detroit in a recent game. It is quite a tribute to Bill Carrigan, manager of the world's champions. The score was tied in the eighth inning, two were out, when Scot Hendrickson stepped to bat. He took one strike and had one ball called upon him, and then walked from the plate and sent in Hendrickson to hit in his place. Hendrickson singled and won the game. *

When it comes to giving credit to the individual players for the great run of McGraw's flying squadron, Arthur Fletcher, the Giants' shortstop, wears a healthy balance. During the long run of victories Fletcher has made more timely hits than any other man on the club. That is, he has made more hits with men on bases and at times when the Giants were in need of a run. Peeping through his records for the games against the western clubs, which supplied most of the big string of wins, it is found that Fletcher has beaten his twelve of these games, scored seven runs and drove in eight more. But a point that his record does not show is that he drove in runs on several occasions when, had he failed, the Giants would have lost. *

News drifts in that Carl Morris, courageous and corpulent Carl, of Oklahoma, wants more than $10,000 from Frank Moran ten rounds in New York. In fact it is said that corpulent but courageous Carl asks $5,000 for his services. Three thousand and dollars for ten rounds of boxing is $300 a round, or $100 a minute.
Evidently Morris thinks his time is more valuable than this.

Arthur Shay, who has been helping out Joe Tinker, is a youngster who hails from Worcester Academy, the Massachusetts institution that turned out Lawton Witt of the Athletics.
Connie Mack had his eyes on Shay and Harry Davis recommended him highly, but he was not signed.
O'Connor, who has been helping Tinker out behind the bat, is a youth picked up in Boston. *

Those particular scribes who are belittling the Red Sox outfit because it includes Tilly Walker might make note of the fact that Chick Shorten is also a member of that outfield. Of course there are some writers in the big show who never heard of Shorten, since it takes them at least three seasons to discover a rising minor leaguer, but it is sug-

Like getting back home for Thanksgiving—
they satisfy!

Thanksgiving with the old folks at home—it does satisfy! For your smoking, Chesterfields do the same thing—they satisfy!

But Chesterfields are MILD, too—that's the wonder of it.

Don't expect this new cigarette enjoyment (satisfy, yet mild) from any cigarette but Chesterfields, because no cigarette maker can copy the Chesterfield blend—an entirely new combination of tobaccos and the biggest discovery in cigarette making in 20 years.

Making a Business Grow

If you have a business and want that business to GROW—get in line with progress—ADVERTISE.

But do not harbor the idea that advertising is ALL a business needs to drive it AHEAD.

The farmer SOWS his corn, then he sets up a SCARE-CROW to frighten away the birds, then he gets out his hoes and cultivator, and keeps right on caring for that CORN until he gets it to market.

When you begin to advertise your business, you take a wise step—you put yourself in the way of BIGGER THINGS, but if you want your advertising to WIN for you the fullest SUCCESS, cooperate with the advertising.

Advertising is meant to draw new trade—it is an open invitation to the stranger to shift his custom to you.

Should this same stranger take you at your word and decide to give Your Place a tryout—and should he find the air of your establishment chilly, or the GOODS, the SERVICE, or the PRICES, in no important detail better than elsewhere, how could you expect that man to become a steady patron of YOUR shop?

You MUST find SOME distinctive thing about your own business, and talk loud and often about THAT in the NEWSPAPERS.

Talk about as much else as you please, but all the while keep hammering home that DISTINCTIVE thing. Build your business around it.

There is a lot of SOAP on the market, but—"IVORY SOAP—IT FLOATS."

There are brands of canned stufis a-plenty on the market, but at once you feel easy in your mind when they hand you one of the "FIFTY-SEVEN VARIETIES."
